- The general running and business administration of the Company services/entities.
- To provide services to the Company's stakeholders.
- The ongoing administration and management of customer services.
- The use of a contact's information should always be considered from their perspective and whether the use will be within their expectations or if they are likely to object. For example, it would clearly be within a contact's expectations that their details will be used by the Company to respond to a contact request for information about the products and services on offer. However, it will not be within their reasonable expectations that the Company would then provide their details to third parties for marketing purposes.

Each the Company service/entity will process personal data in accordance with all applicable laws and applicable contractual obligations. More specifically, the Company will not process personal data unless at least one of the following requirements are met:

When making a determination as to the compatibility of the new reason for processing, guidance and approval must be obtained from the Data Protection Officerbefore any such processing may commence.
- In any circumstance where consent has not been gained for the specific processing in question, the Company will address the following additional conditions to determine the fairness and transparency of any processing beyond the original purpose for which the personal data was collected, any link between the purpose for which the personal data was collected and the reasons for intended further processing.

- The nature of the personal data, particularly whether special categories of data are being processed, or whether personal data related to criminal convictions and offences are being processed.

The existence of appropriate safeguards pertaining to further processing, which may include encryption, anonymisation or pseudonymisation.

Where personal data processing is approved for digital marketing purposes, the data subject must be informed at the point of first contact that they have the right to object, at any stage, to having their data processed for such purposes.

If the data subject puts forward an objection, digital marketing related processing of their personal data must cease immediately, and their details should be kept on a suppression list with a record of their opt-out decision, rather than being completely deleted. It should be noted that where digital marketing is carried out in a 'business to business' context, there is no legal requirement to obtain an indication of Consent to carry out digital marketing to individuals provided that they are given the opportunity to opt-out.

3.5. Data Retention

To ensure fair processing, personal data will not be retained by the Company for longer than necessary in relation to the purposes for which it was originally collected, or for which it was further processed. The length of time for which the Company services/entities need to retain personal data is set out in the Company's Data Retention Policy.
